WOLF-Garten – BioActive

The natural way to a successful lawn with Bio-extracts

From Nature for Nature

Well-maintained gardens and perfect lawns are as popular as ever. WOLF-Garten is the first and only specialist garden supplier offering a comprehensive range of seeds and fertilisers with natural plant-based organic active ingredients for continuous improvement of immune systems and plant vitality. The specialists from Betzdorf call the results of their new research BioActive.

Natural plant restorative substances in WOLF-Garten's BioActive improve general plant health and growth of root mass. Apart from that they improve grass resistance to arid, hot and freezing conditions, and strengthen immune systems against pests and fungal attack. They also improve grass vitality, durability and quality.

The revolutionary success of WOLF-Garten's BioActive lawn seeds is thanks to the bacteria "Pseudomonas proradix". This natural micro-organism is also found in food production and forms a protective coat around the roots, activating the plant's own vital growth and optimizing up-take of nutrients.

WOLF-Garten's BioActive lawn seeds also have rapid-action germination. This is due to a germination accelerator – also natural. The active ingredients, which are extracted from sea algae, ensure seed germination, even in less than perfect conditions, and accelerate this process by up to 30%.

Press Release

The unique effect of WOLF-Garten's BioActive lawn fertilisers is due to the naturally extracted substances from the Campion (Lychnis viscaria), which activates the immune system optimally. Strengthening the plant's immune system is achieved entirely naturally. Immune system characteristics are continuously stimulated in the same way as vaccination.

WOLF-Garten has operated Europe's largest private grass research laboratory for over 40 years. And the reasons are obvious: every year the latest results of scientific research are developed into products.
