New from WOLF-Garten:

Portax 150 – the perfect wheelbarrow

Practical helper on two wheels

There is now a transportation device that reduces the workload dramatically. The new wheelbarrow from WOLF-Garten is called Portax 150. This smart transporter only weighs 12 kilos. It can carry up to 150 litres of garden refuse of any kind, fruit, vegetables or even firewood anywhere in the garden. It can carry a load of up to 50 kilos. The robust body and extra large wheels make sure the vehicle is easily mobile and easy to push.

Who doesn't know about large heaps of autumn leaves, cut branches or grass clippings? They used to be raked together and shovelled into the wheelbarrow, and then taken to the dustbin or compost heap. The Portax 150 from WOLF-Garten simplifies the process of collecting even large amounts in one fell swoop.

The barrow can be tipped, without bending, and the clippings or leaves can be swept into it. The Portax 150, in the classical WOLF-Garten red and yellow design, is a real space-saving wonder. The wheelbarrow has a capacity of 150 litres when assembled. When folded up, it can even be stored in a small corner to save space.

The wheels have inflatable tyres, which have a diameter of 260 mm, and they allow the vehicle to be easily moved and turned, even when it is heavily laden.

The two stable plastic shells are connected with high-tensile fibres. The versatile garden helper weighs only 12 kilos. Two handles, one at the top and one at the bottom, help the user manage the wheelbarrow
