WOLF-Garten – powerful and eco friendly

Garden weeder with clever design

Powerful helper with folding step rest

There's no need to feel annoyed again about dandelions! That's thanks to the new WOLF-Garten garden weeder. The powerful garden aid has been well thought through to the last detail with a soft zone on the handle, a long handle made to relieve back strain and a folding step rest to save storage space.

They are a familiar sight – weeds growing everywhere and covering the flowerbeds especially when plants start to flower. Weeds are a nuisance – nobody really wants to tolerate them. It would be so easy to reach for the weedkiller spray. But there's an eco-friendly alternative – the garden weeder from WOLF-Garten. Chemical solutions can stay on the shelf.

The new device is exceptionally well thought through down to the last detail. That starts with the length – at 110 centimetres the handle is designed to relieve back strain and is very easy to handle. The practical D-grip also makes it easier to work and the soft zone in cross bar right at the top is a nice addition that facilitates safe and easy handling.

A clever detail is the step rest so more weight can be applied with the feet and legs. Another special features: the rest can simply be folded away. This makes the garden weeder even easier to store while also saving space.
