New from WOLF-Garten

Lawn fertiliser for combination with robotic mowers

Lawn care almost done by itself!

WOLF-Garten has developed a special long-term fertiliser for use with the robotic mowers. So there's no need to mow the lawn yourself again and you can still enjoy a perfectly manicured and trim lawn!

The use of robotic mowers changes the quality of your lawn. It is cut every day and spreaded -finely chaffed- onto the lawn again. Soil organisms then decompose the grass and release important nutrients and water back to the lawn.

This process of transformation depends i.a. on the soil temperature and –humidity. Especially at the beginning of vegetation and during summer a lack of nutrients can occur. For a healthy and dense growth your lawn regularly needs a special and balanced mix of mineral nutrients.

The combination of instant and slow-release nitrogen in the special fertiliser replaces any nitrogen deficiency when the lawn is cut. This guarantees an even and instant supply over a longer time period and prevents deficiencies emerging due to lack of nutrients.

During the first year when you start using your robotic mower in your garden, you should apply the fertiliser in spring and in midsummer. In the second year a single application in early summer can already suffice.
