From Cub Cadet

Quick-Adjusting and Incredibly Flexible

Lawnmowers with Caster Front Wheels

Cub Cadet has a self-propelled lawnmower with variable speeds in its range for the upcoming lawnmower season. The swivel-mounted front wheels enable the mower to turn on the spot. But they can also be locked for straight lines on hillsides.

Lawns are not always flat and in lovely lines. If you've ever mowed on a hill, you're bound to rejoice about the CC 53 SPO W from Cub Cadet. With the powerful Cub Cadet engine with 3.3 kW output and a variable self propel system with six speeds, this model can be adjusted to your preferred pace.

The second special feature are the lockable swivel-mounted wheels. This means the self-propelled lawnmower can be turned on the spot. But for parallel lines on hillsides, the locked wheels, which have a dual ball-bearing mount, maintain absolute straight lines.

The central cutting height adjustment allows six settings ranging from 2.8 to 9.2 centimetres. The grass cuttings can be collected in the 70 litre grass catcher bag, which fits through the handle.

The CC53 SPO W has a 3-in-1 discharge system: collect, discharge, mulch. The mulch kit comes as standard.
